

“Now is the Winter of...”

Jan. 14, 2018 – March 4, 2018

Call to Artists

Once again CBAS is collaborating with the Cincinnati Nature Center to mount an exhibit celebrating the season of Winter through the use of the book arts. This year’s title is “Now is the Winter of...” Artists are encouraged to be creative and imaginative with their interpretation of this theme.

- Open to CBAS members only
- No submission fees
- Up to 5 submissions per artist
- Drop-off Jan. 6, 2018
- Opening – Jan. 14, 2018 Closing – March 4, 2018
- Artist reception – Jan. 21, 2018
- Nature Center will receive a percentage of any sales (amount to be announced)
- Artists are asked to clearly label all packing materials and provide detailed written instructions along with a photograph. A small team of volunteers will assist with packing-up.

Last year we were able to bring our work to a second venue. We will have that opportunity this year as well. Since the theme of our first exhibit, “Now is the Winter of...”, is taken from Shakespeare’s “Richard the III”, Judith has been in contact with the Cincinnati Shakespeare Company. This year is their first season in their new theater and they want to use this space in new and exciting ways. And CBAS gets to be part of it!

Here is the plan: The Shakespeare Company staff will evaluate their space to determine the number of pieces they can accommodate including hangs and 3D pieces. They will then view the Cincinnati Nature Center’s exhibit and choose pieces for their venue. This will be a juried show. Obviously Shakespearean themes will be of interest so artists who might be interested in this option might want to look over this season’s plays. All the labeling and packing instructions will apply to this exhibit as well. More specific information will be forwarded to you as it becomes available.

So think Winter; think Shakespeare and have fun. Call me with questions; I will do my best to get answers. I hope you are as excited about this as we are.

Each piece of art submitted must be accompanied by two submission forms – one attached to the work of art, the other to the packing materials. This will make it easier to return the artwork in its correct packing materials. Thank you.
